

A Worthy Matron Talk on Faith and Prayer

We all have our own way of acknowledging Him. Some of us do it on Sunday morning in Church; others of us attend Church two or three times a week. Some of us do it verbally, others silently. There are those of us who profess our faith on the golf course, or in the field on a tractor. Sometimes just taking a walk we glorify in God's work. Everyone of us is different, with different beliefs and different ideas, we are still His children and He hears, He sees and He knows!

The Yellow Brick Road to Friendship may sound somewhat out of context, but in all our serious thoughts, we do need a fantasy. Now and then, I hope that in our journeys along this Yellow Brick Road to Never-Never Land, we will make a lot of new friends and that the old friends will be there to join us and encourage us on our way. The Tin Man needed a heart, the Lion needed courage and the Straw man needed a brain. What they didn't realize was that they had them all the time, they just didn't realize it.
